It can be used in connection with any cultivator. A large crowd saw the chopper tested today at W. J. Moran's farm, near Midland, where several rows of cotton were chopped before the chopper. BOOM IN COPPER IS BOOMING DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ariz., June 25.—As a result of the rising price of copper, Douglas is enjoying a building boom. At least three million dollars worth of new building, including the $2,000,000 Calumet and Arizona reduction plant will have been completed before the end of the present year. The C. & A. plant is making excellent progress, structural steel for the smelter mill being in course of erection at this time. There are a number of betterments in progress at the Copper Queen smelter which will involve expenditure of three quarters of a million dollars. There is besides a marked increase in mineral activity both in the districts contiguous to Douglas and in Sonora. These bumper crops in the Sulphur Springs valley, which are now promised, will make the year a banner one, it is believed.
 Practically every building being erected in Douglas is of substantial character and is of a type of architecture that would do credit to any city in the United States. Real estate men of the city say there is not a single vacant residence in the city at present and those coming here are compelled to take temporary quarters in hotels or rooming houses. During the last week the real estate men of the city have been compelled to refuse applications for rental property as none was to be had.

Several railroad rates will be made from all Texas points.

This is an increase of nearly 1000 over the same period last year. Most of these new corporations are of large capital stock and are various characters of industrial concerns.
 Another notable fact is that there are fewer delinquent corporations this year than ever before, that is corporations that have failed to pay their franchise taxes. The total number now delinquent is about 1000 out of a total of 12,000 doing business in Texas.
